Bank balance as on 01 November 2026: The Foundation holds ₹11,78,946.83 (approximately ₹11.79 Lakhs), of which around ₹11.29 Lakhs represents donations and contributions received from our supporters, and ₹0.50 Lakh is the contribution of the founders.

October at a Glance

During October 2026 the Foundation received ₹2,24,682.44 in donations across 21 credits, with individual contributions ranging from ₹98 to ₹89,793. The bank balance has grown from ₹9,59,264.39 on 01 October to ₹11,78,946.83 on 01 November — an increase of ₹2,19,682.44, or nearly 23%, in a single month.

October did not match September's exceptional ₹3.97 Lakhs, which included one contribution of over ₹1.45 Lakhs. What October did show is something we value more at this stage: a steady, almost daily flow of support from a widening base of contributors, rather than dependence on a few large gifts.

Operational expenses: Expenses remain minimal and fully traceable. A single debit of ₹5,000 was made during October, towards administrative staff salary. There was no other expenditure of any kind during the month. Every decision on expenditure continues to be made with the intent of preserving maximum funds for welfare work.

Where the Corpus Stands

The Foundation has made a conscious decision not to rush into projects for the sake of visibility or optics. We are all too familiar with organisations that announce initiatives before they have the capacity to deliver them meaningfully. That is not the path we will take.

Our belief is simple: when we commit to supporting an individual or a cause, that support must be genuine, substantial, sustained, and capable of creating genuine change.

This Month's Work — Proposals Under Assessment

October was a month of groundwork rather than announcements. The Foundation is currently assessing a number of proposals for assistance — requests that have come to us through regimental channels, veteran networks and directly from families.

Each one is being taken through the same process:

- Verification of the case — service records, circumstances and present need, confirmed through more than one source
- Assessment of what will actually help — whether the need is education, medical, livelihood or immediate relief, and what quantum would make a real difference rather than a token one
- Assessment of what we can sustain — we would rather commit to fewer families and stay with them, than spread a limited corpus thin across many
- Documentation — so that every rupee eventually disbursed can be accounted for publicly

We will not announce a commitment until it is verified, funded and ready to be delivered. When the first disbursements are made, they will appear in these updates with full detail.

What We Are Building Right Now

While we prepare the Foundation for meaningful deployment, our present efforts remain focused on four foundational priorities:

- Establishing deep connections with Army establishments, regimental centres and veteran networks across the country — building the relationships that will help us reach those who truly need support
- Identifying, verifying and documenting genuine cases of soldiers, veterans, Veer Naris and dependent families requiring assistance — so that when support begins, it reaches the right people
- Building transparent, auditable operational and due-diligence processes — ensuring every rupee is traceable, purposeful and accounted for publicly
- Consulting and learning from experienced individuals and organisations who have spent years working in veterans' welfare and social impact — so we build on proven frameworks, not assumptions

> Our mission is not to build an organisation that looks active. It is to build one that actually is.

A Word of Gratitude

In October, support arrived on almost every day of the month — from contributions of ₹98 to one of nearly ₹90,000. That pattern tells us something important: this is not a cause that a few people are carrying. It is one that a growing number of people have quietly decided to stand behind.

We are acutely aware that the trust placed in us comes with responsibility. We will not take it lightly. Every rupee donated will be accounted for, every initiative announced will be delivered, and every beneficiary we support will receive assistance worthy of the sacrifice they or their family have made for this nation.

Thank you for standing with us as we build something we intend to make enduring.
